We have made the decision to further our education at Winston-Salem State University for various reasons. I'm sure it's a decision that was given a great deal of thought. How we utilize our time here will determine the rest of our lives.

My fellow Rams, as we go through our daily routines we should value every second, minute and hour of each day. If you use your time wisely, much can be accomplished. For example, the founder of this institution, Dr. Simon Green Atkins, had a dream that he was determined to see realized. First he prepared himself by taking advantage of the opportunity to attain a solid education. Mr. Les Brown once said, "It is better to be prepared for an opportunity than to have an opportunity and not be prepared." With diligence and good time management Dr. Atkins, with the help of God and others, established and nurtured what we are enjoying today, WSSU. This university is evidence of what we can achieve if we use our minds and the time, both of which God has bestowed upon us. So, let us bear in mind that TIME IS LIFE.

My deepest thanks go to God who instilled within me the determination, knowledge and patience to get the job done as editor. Also, special thanks to the assistant editor, Lora Poyner, who was always by my side and came to my rescue "just in the nick of time." I cannot go without expressing gratitude to staff members who came together as a family and made this book possible. I appreciate the patience and understanding from my advisors, Mr. Beaufort Bailey and Ms. Cassandra Douglas. Last but not least, I extend special thanks to the students, faculty and staff for their cooperation in helping to capture

CHANCELLOR
DR. CLEON FRANKLIN
THOMPSON, JR.

Winston-Salem State University
WINSTON-SALEM, NORTH CAROLINA 27100

Office of the Chancellor

Dear Students:

To the graduating class of 1989, I extend sincere congratulations as you reach this memorable period of your life. During the four years that you have been students at Winston-Salem State University, I hope you have been consumed with a burning desire to utilize your full talents to inestimable proportions.

For those students who will be returning to WSSU, I congratulate you on maintaining your commitment to your education - a vital element in preparing for the future.

Through the coming years, I sincerely hope that you will cherish the memory of your experiences and relationships here. This yearbook highlights some of the glorious days you have spent in our midst.

Graduating seniors, always remember the profound words of nineteenth century poet Henry Wadsworth Longfellow in "A Psalm of Life":

Lives of great men all remind us
We can make our lives sublime,
And, departing, leave behind us
Footprints on the sands of time.

We are grateful to you for the positive difference you have made in the life of our University. Moreover, it is my sincere hope that WSSU has imbued you with those social and intellectual attributes that will propel you into the forefront of your chosen career.

With sincere best wishes,

Cleon F. Thompson, Jr.

Dear Fellow Rams,

Serving as your Student Government Association president this academic year has been a pleasure, and I thank you for your loyal support during my tenure.

As college students, we sometimes tend to over-emphasize the unpleasant moments of our four-year stay — the petty irritations of filling out forms, the inconvenience of waiting in long lines, living quarters not quite as comfortable as those we left back home. When Winston-Salem State becomes your alma mater, the trying times will be replaced with the excitement of homecoming, the gratification of commencement, and other pleasant recollections of Ol' State U.

As you remember your four years here and appreciate the intrinsic value of the important and eventful experiences, the 1988-89 Ram Yearbook will no doubt be the spark that brings back the bright faces of your classmates, the caring guidance of your instructor, and the scenes that made this year of college life real and meaningful.

Sincerely,

John P. Rankins, Jr.

The spirit of WSSU is remarkable. Its faculty and students are recognized for taking an active part in making it the best possible. Of all demands to which college students must respond, the pursuit of academic excellences is by far the most exciting. It is of utmost importance to establish goals emphasized with high ideals and driven by willpower and belief in ourselves. As implied by our theme it is essential that we learn to value our time. Lost time is never found again. The memories of our days here at Winston-Salem State will stand out from the rest of our experiences. In choosing WSSU we had in mind how we would spend our time. Somehow we would find time for academics, cultural and social times. We will never forget because golden times bring golden memories. We have set as our aim to portray our life at the university in order that we may be ever reminded of this most important phase in our growth and development.

CLASS HISTORY

As members of the class of 1989, we have traveled a long road to reach our goal. The class motto, "We can, we shall, we will succeed," has finally become a reality.

The year of 1985 was one of thrill and excitement. Cleon Thompson became the eighth chancellor of Winston-Salem State University and the arrival of the class of 1989. With determination, pride, and much spirit, we began our freshman year on a good note. Shawn Davidson was elected as our class president, Drs. Dennis and Pamela Felder were selected as our class advisors and Rita Miles Ms. Freshman. We joined such clubs as the mighty marching RAMS, the RAM yearbook, the University Choir, and numerous other organizations in order to give them some new input.

In 1986 the rising class of 1989 began to stand out more. Our own Michael Dickerson became MR. RAM and Haven Anderson was elected as our sophomore class president, with Terry Hankerson as Ms. Sophomore. We began to strive for more academic excellence and achieve the goals we set out for. We had the opportunity to encounter such famous personalities as Timmy Newsome, alumnus, who plays for the Dallas Cowboys, Louis Farrakan, alumnus and political activist, and Dizzy Gillespie, a famed trumpeter.

As juniors we had progressed farther down the road of success with Shawna Sessoms as our class president and Mary Marshburn as Ms. Junior. During this year a new change came across the university with the renovation of the Anderson Center and Flair Hall. A newly landscaped main entrance was added to the campus also. Many changes in our community as well helped us to become more aware of what was happening in the world. We were all happy to know that Martin Luther King, Jr.'s birthday celebration became a National Holiday. Claremont Avenue, which is directly in front of K.R. Williams Auditorium and F.L. Atkins, was changed to Martin Luther King, Jr. Drive, which runs from 9th Street to Clemmonsville Road. Once again a famous personality and one of the most renowned Broadway shows graced our campus. The Reverent Jesse L. Jackson, Sr., director of operation PUSH, was here for a voter registration drive. Everyone on the WSSU campus was elated to have him at our university. Mamma I Want to Sing, one of the best Broadway Musicals ever was presented to a sold out crowd.

Homecoming 1987 was a memorable occasion for the sultry songstress Anita Baker and the sophisticated lady Natalie Cole appeared on our Homecoming shows.

The WSSU football team captured the CLAA Championship with Head Coach Bill Hayes. The Championship was won for the late assistant football Coach Wiley Harris.

Our Senior year started with a bang for we realized we had succeeded. We had grown intellectually as well as academically. Many of us had attained our personal goals and were looking forward to the day we would proudly walk down the aisle, for we had achieved our goal.

Now at the top of our ladder of achievement, Yolanda Williams, the senior class president, helped us keep abreast of all we needed to do. A large number of us participated in Graduate and Professional Schools Day, and the Job Fair.

Socially, we still enjoy "Living da Funt" but we have learned that life isn't always a fast party without hard work but a slow waltz with much dedication.

As freshmen we knew you could succeed and as seniors we knew we had. As we depart from "Ole SU" let's remember we entered to learn and since we have learned LET US NOW DEPART TO SERVE.

Esther M. Horton, Senior Class Editor

Almost There

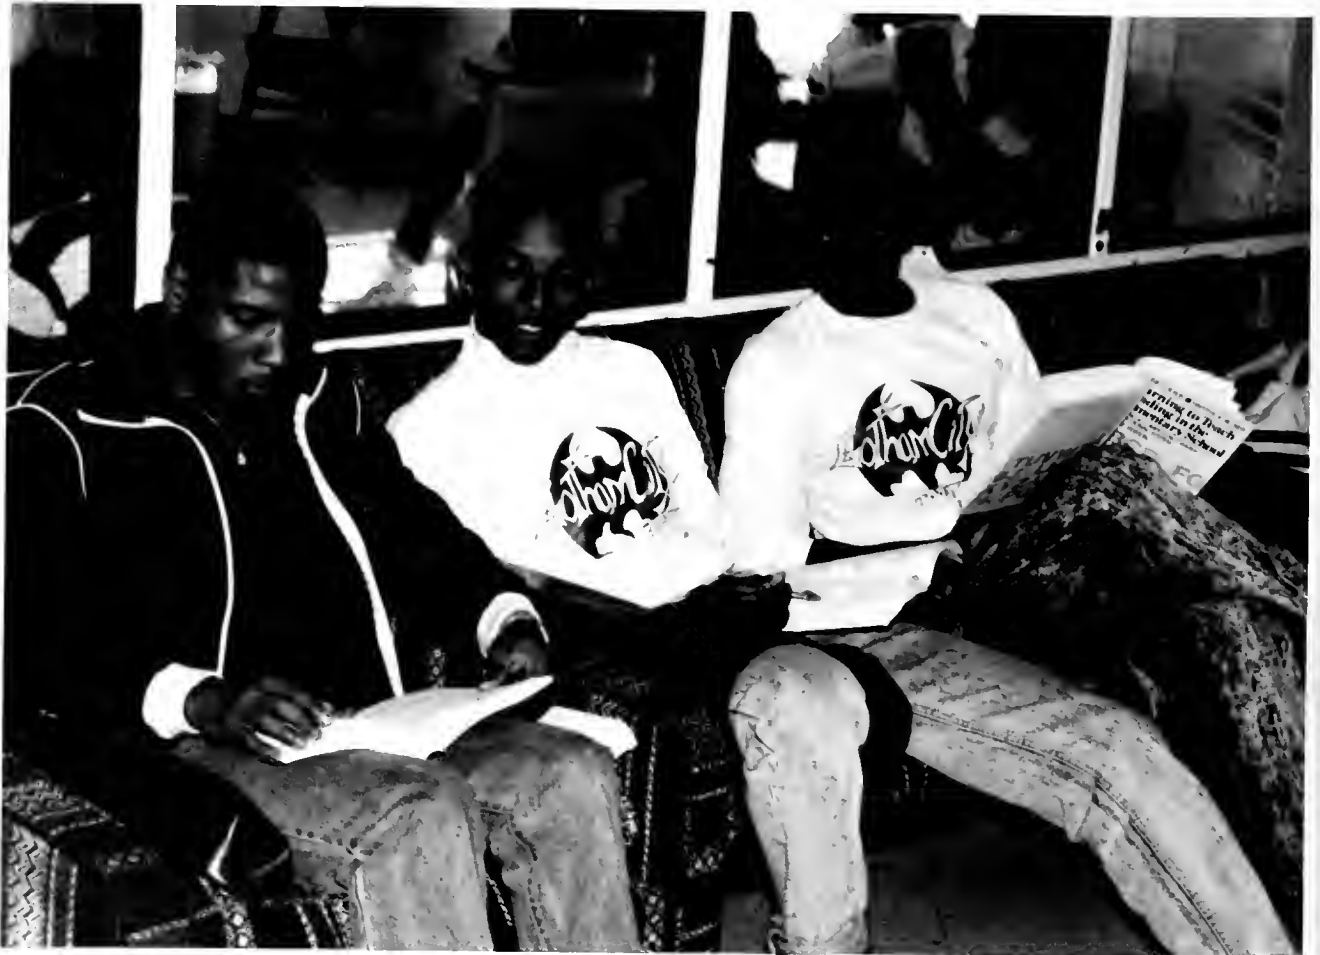

Let's hear it for the Juniors, we are almost there! All of the hard work, determination, and dedication is starting to pay off. The long road towards graduation had been far from easy, but we the juniors are beginning to see all of the hard work come to a sweet end; graduation is right around the corner.

Some juniors may see graduation day as being so close, yet so far away, and well it is because there are so many things that come before, after, and in between graduation. Juniors are often times filled with indecision because we have reached a crucial point in our lives. The journey is coming to a close and decisions must be made. Will I go to graduate school? Will I co-op? What companies will I apply to? These questions must be asked by the juniors because they are strategies and plans that will shape and influence the rest of our lives.

We, have a lot of expectations placed on us. We are placed in harder and more demanding courses because we are concentrating strictly on our major and minor area of study. We are expected to know exactly what we want after graduation, so that we can begin to prepare for the next phase of our lives. We are faced with questions, problems, and situations that are difficult and sometimes frightening, however we are able to overcome all because we know that nothing will stop us, for we are almost there.

Finally, we the sophomore class of 1990 at Winston-Salem State University have risen from zero class hours to some class hours! We are proud to have successfully completed our freshmen year.

We, the sophomores of 1990, have established our majors and some of us have already participated in the honor's day program. A variety of the sophomore class have joined several organizations from this prestigious university such as: athletics, yearbook staff, class offices, greek fraternities/sororities, and many other organizations. In order to participate in these extra-curricular activities, time management is crucial.

Yes, Winston-Salem State University, the sophomore class of 1990 is on the move academically, socially, and rising to the top.

What is life like for a college freshman? He is away from home, in most cases, for the first time in his life. He is not only away from home, but also away from immediate protection, parent's rules, and familiar surroundings. He is cast off into a new world, a different world, where his immediate welfare and survival will be up to the decisions he make for himself. He soon finds that there are many decisions that must be made and several questions that must be answered. How do I study? What clubs or organizations should I join? How do I go about keeping a good GPA? Is pledging a fraternity or sorority for me? How do I manage my time? When do I begin to plan for graduate school? All of these questions are important and lead to an outcome that will have a vital impact upon the future of the individual. The freshman, thus, soon learns what it means to stand up for the beliefs and values he treasures in order to make it and be himself in the process. There is the desired to try new things, meet different kinds of people, and maybe engage in a totally new lifestyle. Sometimes the freshman wants to fit in and be a part because the feeling of being an outsider is threatening in this vast new surrounding. Other freshmen desire to separate themselves from the crowd and find their own little niche to steal away to. What about academics? Is it on the freshman's agenda? For some freshmen, yes, academics is on the agenda. They know that excellence starts from the very beginning and continues throughout. For others, it must take a back seat, for now. There's so much to do and so many things to be a part of. There are suddenly lots of girls for lots of boys and vice versa. And there's . . .

Well, the list could go on and on about the choices, decisions, and directions that are put before a freshman that he must choose from. Basically, "It's A Different World" that has a new beginning who's end will not be the end, but the beginning of a new life.

THE WSSU CHOIR

The Winston-Salem State University Choir enjoys a long and distinguished history as the institution's official singing organization. Even in its earlier years, when it was known as the Winston-Salem Teachers College Acapella Choir and sang under the direction of conductors like Noah Ryder (who organized the Music Department) and James Dillard (who led the choir for close to three decades), it was known for its excellence. And through the years, as times have changed and the institution has both changed in character and evolved in its role in North Carolina higher education from a small teacher preparation college for Blacks to a comprehensive, baccalaureate institution of higher learning, the choir has appeared locally, throughout the state, and before audiences in the Mid-West and Eastern United States. It has been seen on regional television and has sung in concert with the Winston-Salem Symphony, (Scenes from The Life of a Martyr: To the Memory of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., 1987 and excerpts from Vesperae Solemnnes de Confessore K339, 1988). During the 1987-88 academic year the choir sang for the North Carolina Music Educators State Convention, appeared in the North Carolina Collegiate Choral Festival, and by special invitation, in the American Negro Spiritual Festival (Cincinnati, Ohio), where it won First Prize and received critical acclaim. Said Cliff Radel of the Cincinnati Enquirer, "... most consistent ... The two Alabama choirs ... had their flashy moments, but Winston-Salem was the brightest ... rich and precise ... Notes and words began and ended with distinction ... sweet and dignified." This fall it has been invited to sing at the Centennial celebration of Hall Johnson's birth in Glassboro, New Jersey.

Pete Richardson

Pete Richardson takes over the 1988 Rams after spending the past eight seasons as an assistant at WSSU under Bill Hayes.

Richardson graduated from the University of Dayton with a B.S. in education and an M.A. in guidance and counseling. Richardson played four years of varsity at Dayton as a defensive back, earning all-American honors. After college, Richardson went on to the National Football League where he played four seasons with the Buffalo Bills.

With his playing days behind him, Richardson embarked on his coaching career. Coach "Rich" as he is referred to by his players, spent two years as head football coach at Dunbar High School in Dayton, Ohio. Richardson earned Dayton Coach of the Year honors in 1977 and was vice-president of the Dayton Coaches Association in 1978.

Richardson came to WSSU as the offensive backfield coach. He later became defensive coordinator and assistant head coach. When Bill Hayes accepted the North Carolina A&T head coaching job this year, the opportunity for Richardson to step in presented itself. Richardson plans to make the most of that opportunity by leading the Rams in continuing their strong tradition of football success.

AN INCREDIBLE CHANGE —
Aren't you glad that we finally let the bells stop rocking? Of course you remember those orange, plaid, polyester bell bottoms. You were very uncool if you didn't wear them. Oh yeah, men! Let's not forget the red polyester butterfly-collar shirts that we wore with our bell bottoms to the house parties. We were SUPERFLY!

Fashions have come a long way since the 1970's for both men and women. Have you noticed how the length of skirts has gone up, then down, now back up again? The ladies dug out the mini skirts that their moms wore in the 60's. Then they went back and grabbed those granny dresses that covered the legs all the way down the ankles. Now at the end of the decade they are wearing them just above the knee. What's next ladies? Men stay tuned for the 90's

Ram men have become more sophisticated and distinguished in their wardrobe. There is nothing like a nice pair of wool blend slacks, a nice turtleneck or colorful button-up sweater and suave leather shoes. We're talking tough!

Don't forget the platforms or roach stompers that were worn in the early 1970's. How we walked in those things, I'll never know. If I remember correctly, the soles were pretty heavy and thick.

Every now and then, we all awake in the morning feeling sporty. The perfect outfit is a nice Adidas or Fila sweatsuit and a nice pair of . . . well, we can choose either Adidas, Lotto, or Nike tennis shoes to make our feet comfortable for those long walks across campus. No more jeepers for us!

To complete that 70's look, we fashioned our hair into shoulder-wide afros. I am sure we will never forget how the hair was "picked out" and of course the "blow out" to make the afro nice and round.

The 1980's, particularly 1986 'til now, have allowed creativity to play its role in fashioning the hair. Ladies have flipped it up, whooped it up to this side and that side, and trimmed it here and there. Men have become artistic and decided to carve shapes, figured, names and numbers in their hair. I can't help but wonder if baldness will become fashionable for both men and women. Who knows? In the 1990's, we might think it to be ridiculous to have hair on our heads!

Cars have changed drastically! In the 1970's, we drove the Pintos, the Fiats, VW Bugs, and those long, long Cadillacs. The styles and bodies were tough and durable because they made of thick metal and steel.

The cars of the 1980's have become if anything smaller and more costly. The smaller the more convenient. Now we have in place of the VW Bug the Jetta, Fox, Quantum and Golf. For the Cadillac family, well it has become smaller and more sporty. Notice the 1989 model!

1980 — "There were more than enough world shaking events for any 12 months in 1980. A new president was elected and his victory overshadowed a dramatic shift in political philosophy. Inflation, unemployment, recession, riots and terrorism all had an impact as nature did too, in the form of drought, earthquakes and volcanic destruction.

1981 — "Like every year, 1981 was a kaleidoscope, heroes and villains, fads and fancies, triumphs and tragedies all flashed before us . . ."

— WBC Sugar Ray Leonard staggered rival Thomas Hearns . . . the once undefeated WBA champ and enthroned himself $11 million richer as undisputed welterweight champion of the world.

Rap is music with a simple, funky beat and chanted lyrics that tell stories often about romantic prowess. While the music pounds whether from tape decks on the sidewalk or elaborate stereos in clubs, bystanders plunge into acrobatics called break dancing. Rap even had a fashion code of loosely laced sneakers and cap-bills flipped up and a rich slang that gives tags or nicknames to everyone.

1983 — Chicago elects first black mayor, Harold Washington

— Vanessa Williams is selected the 56th Miss America and the pageant's first black.

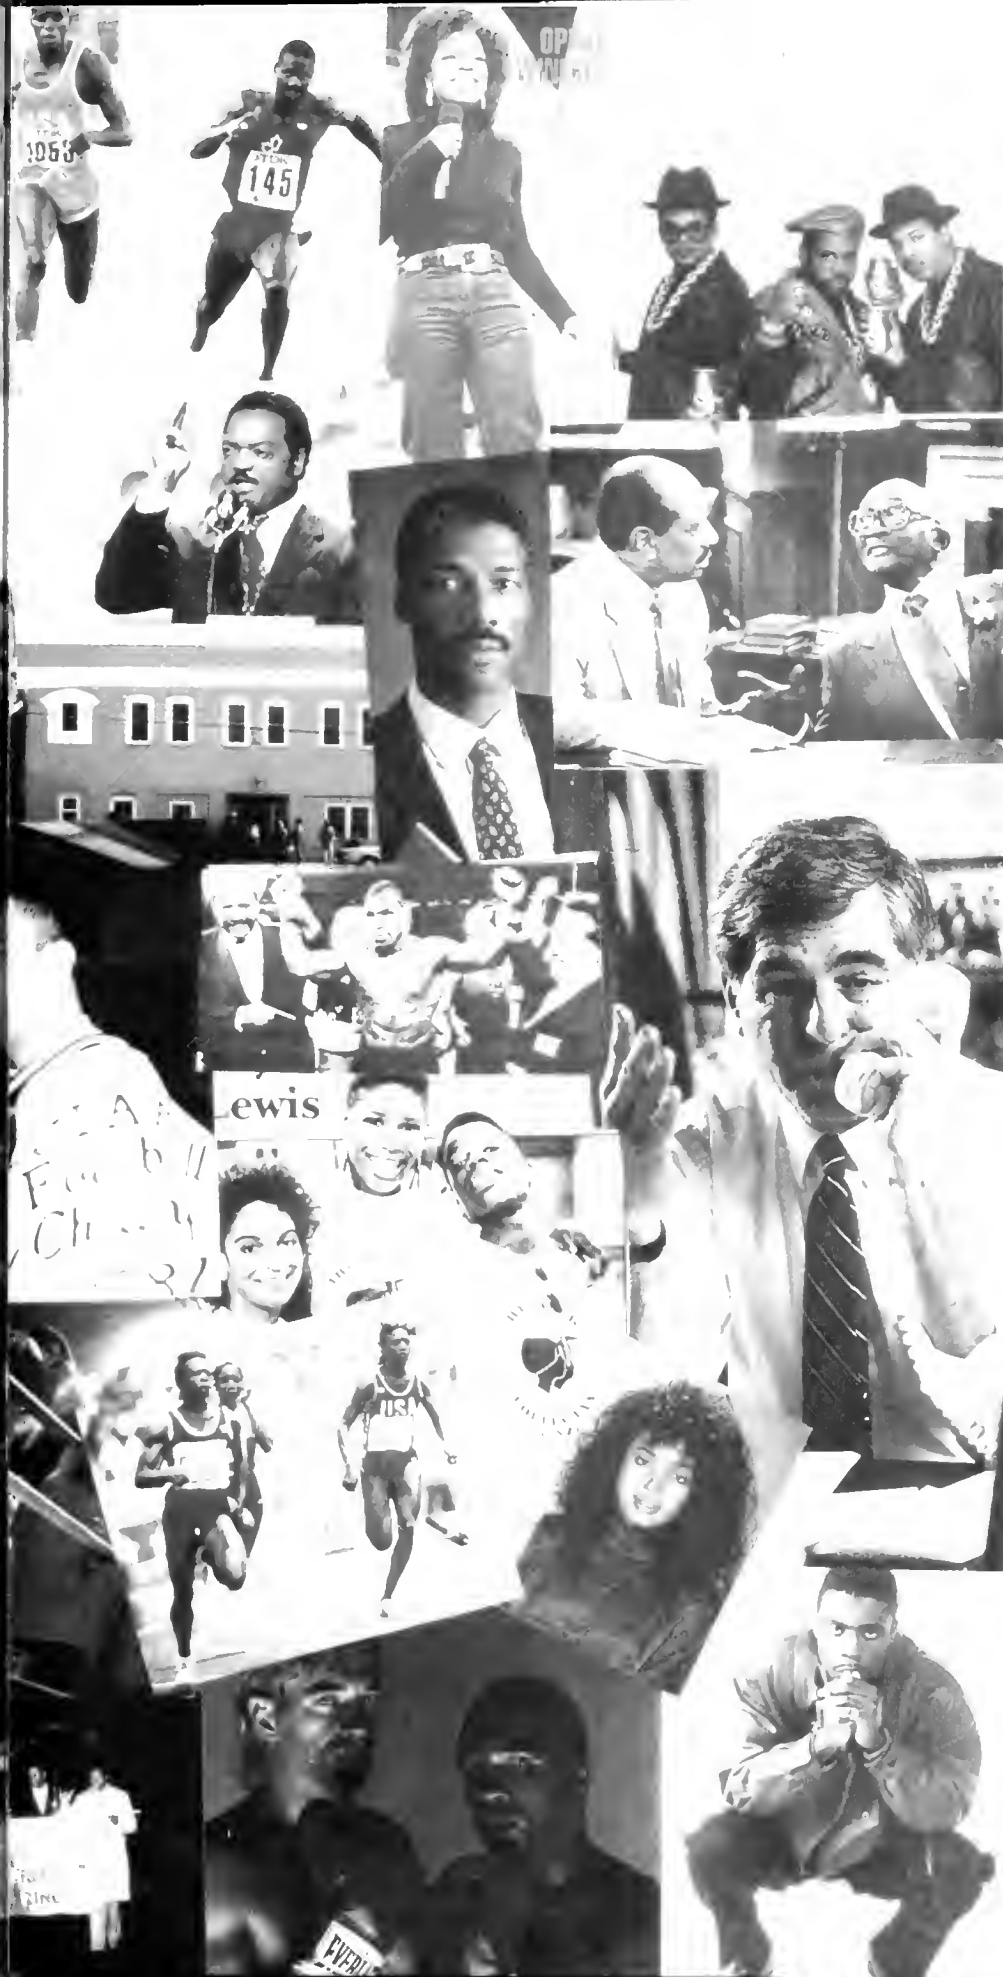

— Nobel Peace Prize awarded to Desmond Tutu

— Geraldine Ferraro — the first woman on the national ticket of a major party, candidate for Vice President of U.S.

— Mary Lou Retton wins the first individual medal in gymnastics for the U.S.

- Reagan is re-elected

1985 — "WE ARE THE WORLD" — For the starving 45 of the poorest produced the USA for Africa album, poster, video and $37 million plus

— Charity was in and the celebrity without a cause — whether opposition to apartheid or a cure for AIDS was a singer without a song

— Farmers suffer the loss of their farms due to drought

1986 — For one magic moment on the fourth of July, the nation paused for a burst of patriotic pride. The statue of Liberty topped off her 100th birthday party with a 28-minute pyrotechnical nightcap

— Millions joined hands across America to combat hunger

— January 20th — Martin Luther King Day is celebrated nationwide for the first time WSSU students march in remembrance

— January 28th The Challenger explodes after lift-off — all crew members were killed.

— Lt. Col. Oliver North began Congressional testimony on secret funds for Nicaragua's contras.

— Len Bias, star basketball player at the University of Maryland died, June 19, 1986.

1987 — AIDS — another sad year for the sick, a frightening future for the country

— Julius Erving (Dr. J) after 16 seasons and more than 30,000 points, the NBA's Identified flying object retires at the age of 37

— "The U.S. is the same land of dreams it has always been where fantasies of the good life complete with warnings of hard times . . ."

— Harold Washington, Chicago's first Black mayor is re-elected for a second term

1988 — Jesse Jackson — second time candidate for the presidency of the U.S.

— George Bush is elected for the office of President of the United States — "DON'T WORRY, BE HAPPY"

— Oprah Winfrey loses weight

— Charlotte Hornets — first NBA team for N.C.

— Plane crash in London — no survivors

1989 — George Bush is inaugurated for office of President of the United States

— The 49ers win the Super Bowl

— A school in East Berlin was named after Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

— Basketball great, Kareem Abdul Jabbar retires
